A TRAGEDY IN JOURNALISM.

A petition is now being circulated in Birmingham and Jefferson county, Alabama, by the liquor interests behind the mask of the so-called local option campaign committee. The State of Alabama has enjoyed State-wide prohibition for the past several years. At the session of the Alabama legislature this past spring a local option statute was passed, with the counties as units, making it possible where a certain percentage of the qualified voters petition the Judge of Probate for an election to be held. The petition which is now being circulated is in accordance with the provisions of that statute. An interesting thing in connection with the launching of the campaign by the liquor forces, is that they have selected a prominent industrial man, who claims to have been a "dyed in the wool" prohibitionist four years ago but who has had a complete change of heart, "having come to the conclusion that prohibition is a farce." to lead them in their fight. Another interesting point in connection with this campaign is the fact that The Birmingham News, a paper that was founded by the late Rufus N. Rhodes and under whose distinguished management and guidance became one of the South's most potent journals, always wielding a powerful influence for the best moral uplift of the city, county and State, has embraced the cause of liquor. At the death of Mr. Rhodes, a year or two ago, the paper was sold by Mrs. Rhodes to Victor H. Hanson, Frank P. Glass and associates. These men were never identified with the prohibition side of the question, and their advocacy of the liquor interest is not a change of heart. It is to be deplored, however, that a newspaper which has been such a power for good and upon such principles has builded itself a reputation and become such an influence in the community in which it is published, should have to fall into the hands of men whose sentiments and desires are in such antipathy with the principles upon which that paper has been founded. The editor of The Birmingham News in his opening editorial anent the liquor fight tries to put the Bible in the category of anti-prohibitionists. We are reminded that the devil himself used the Scripture, contorting it so as to fit his own desires, but we believe that it would be impossible to get any man familiar at all with the teachings of the Bible to believe that this Holy Book in any way ever countenanced the liquor evil as we day. Of course it is easy for the liquor sympathizers to agree with the editor of The Birmingham News, for you don't have to produce any argument for them. The Birmingham News was perhaps the most conspicuous figure in the success of State-wide prohibition in Alabama, and now to witness that paper by force of circumstances the mouth-piece of the liquor interests is little short of a journalistic tragedy.

The Birmingham Ledger, the News' afternoon contemporary, is taking up the fight for the prohibition forces. The Ledger has always been on the moral side of things but has not perhaps taken as forceful a part in former years as it In fact, in a large house full of people, has recently. It is interesting to note when amusement begins to flag, a bad n this connection that Mr. Robert G. fit of the sulks does not come in at all Hiden, associate editor of The Birmingham News under Mr. Rhodes' ownership, is now associate editor of The Birmingham Ledger. The Telegram wishes the prohibition forces, The Ledger, Mr. Hiden and all who are opposed to the nefarious liquor traffic an overwhelming victory for decency, law and order in the coming fight.

By the way, what about swatting the flies? We have not heard of the City Commissioners taking any action in that direction yet.

The editors of the State are gathered together at Lenoir for their annual meeting. It is hardly thought that much time will be consumed in the discussion Daily, three months...... 1.25 of trust busting, etc., etc. These commonplace things will be forgotten for the

The Greenville Piedmont says: "The North Carolina editors in annual meeting this week will discuss the hookworm disease, giving their personal experiences with it. The discussion is expected to be most helpful." No doubt they could get some very helpful suggestions from some of the South Carolina editors.

The Columbia State says: "The North Carolina mountains will now proceed to make merry at the expense of the South Carolinians." If the South Carolinians could always get as much for their money in South Carolina as they do when they are permitted to part with a little of it in North Carolina, they would be fortunate indeed.

The Lorimer investigating committee is daily unearthing something new which tends to show that Lorimer's election was anything but what it should have been.

It is a shameful condition of affairs that such corrupt methods for election to the greatest legislative body in the world can be used, and it is still more shameful that those who pursue such tacties of dishonesty and bribery succeed in being elected and that it seems so hard to get rid of them, even after practically everybody is thoroughly convinced that their election was illegal. The Recall would help some in the Lorimer case and others like it.

At any rate, all this blackness and bitterness is infused into the bright and happy atmosphere of the house, till it is as dark as doom, from that solitary individual.

What occasioned it? Again, nobody knows. It is, perhaps, a case of what children used to call "getting up wrong end first." Some inexplicable offense has been taken; some unremembered contradiction has rasped the sensitive nerves and been brooded over in the watches of the night till it has seemed to be the throwing down of a gage: some careless remark has been misinterpreted and kept rankling; some real injury has been unforgiven, unforgotten, and swollen into quintuple proportions; or else some too rich morsel has produced a heavy indi-

Nevertheless, the disposition of Sou ern mill men is to curtail still further. Some are halting between the plan of shutting down altogether and that of running on a four day a week schedule. Many Alabama mills are continuing on this plan. One result of doing so is to reduce their stocks of goods on hand so as to have practically clean ware rooms whenever the trade improves enough to call for longer hours of operation.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials

HUGH JENNINGS FLAYS UMPIRES

League Staff Is Very Poor.

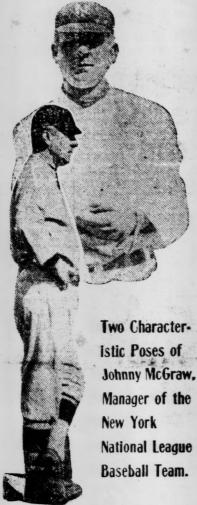

HAS SYMPATHY FOR M'GRAW. WESTERNERS TO MAKE BID.

Leader of New York Giants Puts Up With More Insults Than Any Other Leader, Says Hughey-Tells of His Experience In World's Sories.

Hugh Jennings says that Johnny Mc-Graw is the most maligned man in haseball. The scrappy manager of the hants has more vulgar personalities thrown at him by foul mouthed fans than any other player in the big league. But despite the many stinging usults that have been rung in his ears John McGraw has never yet argued a point with the occupants of the grand stand or bleachers.

"I can see just why McGraw has so much trouble," said the famous red topped pilot of the Detroit Americans recently. "If I were in the National league I would have just as much trouble as McGraw has.

"In the world's series I saw enough of National league umpires to last me a long time. They came on the field with that fine air about them as much is with the players as Hank O'Day. He has figured in countless stories of the diamond. There is only one way to get O'Day's jump.

goat, and that is to call him "Henry." Hank can't stand to be called by his Christian name. One day O'Day chased Mike Donlin off the New York ball field. Donlin hid behind a fence near the clubhouse and velled "Henry" spending ten days on the bench.

Another time somebody threw a cup of water at O'Day just before the with blood in his eye. John McGraw was standing directly in back of him. "You're out of the game!" roared

"But the game hasn't started yet," insisted McGraw.

That doesn't make any difference. You are out, anyhow."

McGraw was persistent, and he appealed to the other umpire on the field. The umpire agreed that O'Day had no authority to chase McGraw. "All right." said O'Day. "You just start in this game."

McGraw started in the game. For Six innings he did not open his mouth. O'Day was so mad he could hardly keep his eyes off McGraw. He was laying for McGraw, but up to this time he had not found an opening. Historly chance came in the sevanth inning. McGraw forgot himself and yelled to his second baseman to come in. That was all the excuse O'Day wanted.

Now, you get out of here as fast as you can," hissed O'Day. "How long have I got to get off the field?" asked McGraw. "Just two minutes," replied O'Day, pulling out his watch. "Then I am going to take one minute and fifty-nine seconds to tell you what I think of you and your whole family," roared McGraw. in one minute and fifty-nine seconds. | and an annoyance to the enemy.

NATIONAL A. A. U. CHAMPIONSHIPS

netroits' Pilot Says National Annual Contest For Titles to Be Held In Pittsburg.

Crack Athletes of the Middle and Far West Will Compete In the Principal Events-Easterners Will Not Have Easy Sailing.

That eastern athletes will not have all smooth sailing at the national championships to be held at Forbes field, Pittsburg, June 30 and July 1, is evidenced by the expressed intention of the big clubs of the middle and far west to make bids for the honors.

From Seattle the greatest track and field performers of that section will be sent, including champions of two years ago, who failed to make the New Orleans series held last year. Included in this bunch will be W. Martin, who won in 1909 the "hundred" and who was a strong factor in last year's events.

Then there will be Edmundson, the half miler, who took the measure of Harry Gissing, New York Athletic club, at that distance, incidentally beating him ten yards in the slashing When the taxi whirled into the statime of 1 minute 55 1-5 seconds. In his efforts he will be aided by W. Edwards, who beat the noted Smithson at the Portola exposition in time said to have been 15 1-5 seconds. As a matter of fact, he has since failed to live up to that supposed performance, and despite the advantage of having been under the tutelage of Mike Murphy at the University of Pennsylvania, where he is a student, he was taken into camp recently at the New York Athletic club games by Jack Eller of the Irish American Athletic club. Others in the squad will be B. Gish, a clever all around performer, who will compete in the broad jump and the discus events. Philbrook, formerly of Notre Dame and a good weight man, will also carry the colors of the Seattle

For the middle west Ralph Craig will do battle, and if he is only in a semblance of his form, as shown at the intercollegiate championships, he already has both the "hundred" and "twotwenty" yard races practically tucked away for the year. It is really a treat to see this athlete run. Not the best man in the world getting away from his mark, he is certainly a fast runner when he gets into action, apparently running over his field from sixty yards | The first smile which had dawned in home in the short sprint. In the "two-When a man who has done something twenty" he overtops any amateur the world ever saw, with the possible exception of Bernie Wefers, who holds with the westerner the world's best mark-21 1-5 seconds-for the distance. Further than this, he can step a rattling quarter, and he ought to do exceedingly well if he were to try a broad

Forbes field, the home of the Pittsburg baseball club, will be the scene of the congame started. O'Day whirled around tests. It is being made over into a first class track, which just skirts the concrete stands in its circuit. Mike Murphy, the Pennsylvania trainer, has charge of its construction and asserts that he will have a fine track. It will be pear shaped, with the longest straightaway eighty yards long. The track will be seventeen feet wide throughout its length. The 100 yard event will be run from right field toward the home plate and the "twotwenty" right hand in from the extreme center field corner. The quarter mile will start at the 100 yard finish and will have a straightaway from the start for 100 yards; then there will be a 224 foot turn, a 98 foot straight, a 143 foot turn, a 114 foot straight, a 131 foot turn, with a straight run home of 100 yards.

Two in a Taxi

By Dorothy Douglas

There was only one taxi in sight Two persons made their way toward # from opposite sides of the street.

"Pennsylvania station, please!" Simultaneously two voices reached the chauffeur's ears; a feminine voice on the right side and a masculine one from the left.

The chauffeur looked from one to the other applicant.

"Guess you will have to toes for it," he said good naturedly. "There can be no tossing," put in the girl hurriedly. "I absolutely must eatch the 6:14 train." "And I am equally in a hurry," said the man.

"Well, there's rom inside for two," suggested the chauffeur as he began to take his seat.

The girl and the man looked across the machine at each other with expressionless faces. "Since there is no other way-it will have to do." Harmony Weller stepped into the taxi. "I suppose it will," said David Green as he entered from the other side. He seated himself without apparently seeing the wicker suit case that acted as a barrier on the wide seat. The short trip to the station was in absolute silence. The girl ght and looked out the cab so that all Green saw of her was the firm line of her profile. ter of fares. Then he saw her exstances, he felt that she was taking Joe Malcolmson, the low hurdle title the right course and he remained passive not attempting in any way to break the silence.

The man and the girl stepped from

Harmony Weller's eyes was when she turned from the amused glance of the chauffeur.

She went hurriedly into the huge station and was lost in the crowd. David Green walked briskly toward the train which he boarded only after having seen his companion of the taxt step into the same train. He followed her and took a seat behind her.

From his point of vantage he watched every movement of Harmony Weller. The girl was making a frantic effort to keep her mind as well as her eyes upon the magazine that she held. There was a woeful droop to the corners of her mouth but her proud little head gave an occasional toss as if it fain would proclaim an undaunted spirit. She cast many glances about the train and after each it seemed to Green that her disappointment deepened. He drew nearer the window so that she might not by any chance know of his nearness.

The train moved swiftly on and darkness crept into the outer world. David Green watched the girl rise and make her way toward the dining car. He followed a moment later. As he entered his heart gave a quick jump. The only vacant seat was the one opposite the girl. When he seated himself he watched a tinge of color sweep into Harmony's face. But through the long meal she scarcely raised her eyes above the level of his tie pin.

David Green's heart was hammering as it had not hammered in his life time and into his eyes had come a light that, had the girl opposite seen she might have recognized. At it was she kept her eyes studiously away from his. She was the first to arise. Green watched her and it was then that he realized the fact that the train had been at a standstill for some fifteen minutes.

He learned as did the other passengers that a train was derailed some few miles beyond and that further run for the night was impossible. They had stopped at a small vil-

Green watched Harmony Weller while she questioned the porter. A moment later she took her light bag and left the train. Green questioned the porter in his turn and learned that the one hotel of which the vil- panion.

lage boasted was within easy walking

Green sprang swiftly for his suit case and went out into the night. He walked quickly until he was only a few steps behind the girl. A few moments later they entered the small inn from opposite sides of the veranda.

"Have you a room for tonight?" Simultaneously two voices reached the desk clerk's ears.

"We've only one left in the house," he said.

Swift color swept the girl's face and, completely unstrung, she turned and fled to the moonlight verands. Green swore under his breath then thought quickly, "Give it to me, please!"

He got the key none too soon. The small office was crowding with passengers from the train.

David went out the door by which he had seen Harmony Weller make her exit. His own nerves were perhaps no more steady than the girl's. He stood looking out over the village streets but there was no sign of her. He went down the steps and looked to right and left. Distracted, he started slowly one way and then another.

"David-David!" A small voice reached his ears and David's heart responded to its appeal. He looked about: the voice had come from the dark end of the hotel veranda. David went back up the steps three at a time and took Harmony Weller out of the big chair in which she was curled and into his arms. She was weeping and the tears dropped on the lapels of his coat. 'You've been perfect-ly-hor-rid t-to me, David." He tightened the arm about her. "I have only done what you asked, dear-you told me never to speak to you again and in order to avoid doing so I was on my way to the west

-vou see I couldn't forget you." "And-and I was on a trip to try to forget you-David." "Harmony," David asked, "did you happen to notice anyone in clerical garb on that train-I'm sure you saw him-he is a very good looking man?' "I haven't noticed any man-since you-stopped loving me."

"But I saw him." The meaning in David's voice was unmistakable. Harmony's head went down on the lapels.

"I say," continued David, "now that you know I love you, wouldn't you take some interest in seeing a good looking man?" "I see one now," laughed Harmony, "but I don't mind seeing a good looking minister." "Here is your ring back," David said as he slipped the big diamond on her finger. "But this you can't have until we find that minister." He showed her the plain band. "Where is your suit case, dear?"

WOMAN AND THE HAIRPIN

she Can Put This Handy Little Article to a Wonderful Variety of Uses.

Have you ever realized the number pin may be put? None but a woman who has had recourse to this handy little article can appreciate its general utility. The proof of a woman's mechanical genius is in the number of ways she can apply the hairpin.

Few women take naturally to ordinary tools. They use hammers in a gingerly and ridiculous manner, or they pound their fingers with them; they put blunt pointed nails along instead of across the grain, and then wonder why it splits: they use screw drivers principally to pry open boxes, and they think pincers were made to crack nuts with. But they know how to manage a hairpin. "A woman," said an observing gentleman the other day, "always opens a letter better than a man. A man tears off a corner, and then pulls the envelope more or less to pieces in getting at the contents; but a woman draws a hairpin, inseres one prong at a corner, and rips open the edge as neatly, easily and quickly as if it were a tool made for the purpose." With the same "tool" she can, and frequently does, button her gloves, and oecasionally her boots. She cuts the magazines with it. She twists it into clasps for broken jewelry. She employs it to draw corks. She inserts it into windows to keep them from rattling, and uses it to brace back shades that incline to tumble down. She succeeds, by its nelp, in turning the hasps of windows from the outside, when obliged by accidental lock-out to "burglarize" her own house. She arms herself with it when traveling, to keep disagreeable neighbors at a respectful distance. She files receipts upon it.

Placed Ban on Cricket.

Until a century and a half ago our great national pastime in fact figured in the statute book as a crime. The game was declared illegal in the time of Edward IV. owing to its having become so popular as to interfere with archery, the then sport of kings. The law against it was vigorously enforced. and every person convicted of playing the game was fined £10 or sent to prison. It was not until the formation of the famous Hambledon club in 1749 that the statute was repealed .- Pall Mall Gazette.

Aeroplane is Simple.

The working parts of the modern flying machine are infinitely fewer in number than those of the automobile the motor boat, the railroad locomotive or the steamship. Far more complex is the operation of a high-powered motor car than that of a high-powered aeroplane. Far more delicately adjusted are the thousands of parts of the steam or electric locomotive than the mechanism of the flying machine. It is this very simplicity of construction and operation that has enabled the aeroplane to outdo in continuous motion every other known form of conveyance, except steamers, motor boats and sailing ships, and these last named are able to maintain their motion only because of their huge driving mechanism, out of all proportion to the bulk that is propelled.

HIGH PROTECTION ARGUMENT IS BURIED

Will Never Again Perform For Republicans Valuable Services it Has in Past -New York Member of House Knocked Bottom From Under it.

(By TAVENNER.) special to Telegram

Washington, June 27.-There is one protectionist argument that will never again occupy the place in American polities that it has in the past.

That is the argument that a high protection wall is necessary to enable American manufacturers to compete in home markets with foreign manufactured

The reason this stock protectionist argument will never again perform the same valuable mission for the Republieans, is because of a speech delivered in he House by Wm. C. Redfield, of New York, who is a manufacturer himself, and who for 18 years has been selling American manufactures in foreign coun-Redfield contended and proved that the difference in daily wage at home and abroad should not be the sole basis of letermining the amount of protection to be applied to a given article.

He cited instance after instance in which he sold articles manufactured by $5 a day American employes in countries where labor received less than one dollar

Redfield took the position that American manufacturers did not need as much protection as they were now enjoying to protect them from foreign competition" because they are successfully competing with foreign manufacturers in all

"How does it happen," demanded Redield, "that in a quotation recently made for machinery to a mine in Japan the American price was $215 less than the Japanese railways, and upon the rail-Manchuria? These are sold in open competition with the makers in Great Redfield related an incident between an American salesman who recently took large contract from the Japanese Imperial State Railways and one of the nanagers of the Imperial Railways shop. The Japanese official was under the impression that he could manufacture locomotives cheaper than an American ne-fifth of American wages.

"Both men got out their cost books," said Redfield, "and they found that the fact was the labor cost for locomotives on the same specifications was three and one-half times greater in the Japanese shops than in the American shops. And this is a perfectly normal fact and not an abnormal one. Redfield said when he was in Calcutta. India, recently, his agent pointed to a pair of American made shoes he was

Progressives on Their Guard.

Progressive Republicans were conspicous at the President's recent wedding anniversary celebration by their absence. Even Roosevelt, the man who made Taft President, was missing. The explanation is this: The progressives did not of course intend any slight to the President, but actually feared that if they attended the celebration the White House press bureau would send out stories to the effect that they favored Taft for re-nomination and re-election.

If a Republican approaches within shouting distance of the executive mansion these days, Mr. Taft's Secretary feeds the Associated Press with the 'News" said Republican is strong for the e-nomination of the President.

As the genuine progressives are opposed to Taft's renomination, they are not disposed to take any chances.

Popular Elections Endangered.

The resolution providing for the election of United States Senators by the adelphia, has been commissioned by King direct vote of the people, failed to re- George V. to paint the picture of the cause of the Senate amendment retain ing federal control over elections. This amendment, which would probably have defeated ratification by the necessary three-fourths of the States, even had the House accepted it, was tacked on the resolution by Bristow, of Kansas, Lorimer of Illinois, Guggenheim of Colorado, and the solid delegation of special privilege Senators in the Senate.

Railways Overpaid.

Postmaster General Hitchcock at last onfesses that the government is overpaying the railroads for the hauling of the mails to the extent of about $9,000,-

James Manahan, who represents the railway mail clerks in their campaign to prevent the postmaster general from putting into effect his policy of economizing by overworking the mail clerks, leclares the railroads are being overpaid to the extent of not less than $25,-

Democrats in Congress have for years ontended that such a state of affairs existed, but the Republicans refused to

Republicans Still Divided.

A statement to the effect that Theoore Roosevelt and all of the progressive Republicans save possibly La Follette would support President Taft for renomination, was recently given out by the White House press bureau and printd in all parts of the country.

This untruthful report made the proressives angry clear through, with the esult that if they ever had any idea of upporting Taft for a re-nomination. hey have abandoned it and will support La Follette. The only progressive who s avowedly for Taft is Kenvon of Iowa, who while still posing as an insurgent n his home State, is apparently rapidly developing into a reactionary in Wash-

WOMAN'S COURAGE IS HIGH

English Sociologist Advances the Theory That This is Due to the Maternal Instinct.

In high police circles woman's trait of courage that exceeds their physical festation in the proverbially weaker

"Ever since I became associated with police work," said one experienced officer. "I have noticed that women seemed always ready to help any one in apparent difficulties. Perhaps because they are weak themselves they are disposed readily to help the weaker side without thought of consequences to themselves."

A highly interesting explanation of this undoubted bravery in women was vouchsafed by J. W. Slaughter, the eminent English sociologist, who assigned female courage largely to the maternal instinct. "Nothing on earth can be more ferocious, more dangerous and more courageous than the female animal defending her young. The maternal instinct in woman is in ing on Broadway for $5. "I shall be glad | itself an inspiration to courage. You will never see a woman on the edge of a crowd taking the side of the upper dog. Women, moreover, act more directly than men. They are more impulsive and less calculating.

"We are accustomed to think of women as afraid of this or that, but it is because they have not really had experience. Courage is, after all, a matter of experience. One is not afraid of things one is used to or knows how to deal with.

Tipping In the Dark.

He had quite lost his English acent, his English manner, and his English appearance—that waiter I met the other day, but one little trick that he retained betrayed him for a countryman of mine," said the Englishman. When I offered him a tip he turned his back upon me and stretched his hand out behind him to receive it. "Nobody but an English waiter of the old school would have received a tip with so much humility. It was never the custom to cultivate that modest demeanor anywhere except in the tight little island. The old servitors there thought it a sign of dishonor to glue the eye on a fee before it had left the customer's hand, but the new generation of English waiters is as greedy as their brethren in other lands and makes a forward thrust for whatever is offered."

Opposition to Reciprocity Is Likely to Collapse.

THE DEBATE MAY BE SHORT.

Many Republicans Who Oppose the Measure Can't Afford to Oppose the Administration-Senator Gore Injects a Little Humor by Using Speech Made In Canadian Parliament.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, June 27 .- (Special.)-Opposition to the Canadian reciproclty bill may collapse almost any time and the bill be passed by the senate. The Republicans who have been vehement in their opposition have not received very much encouragement from the contingent of their party that would like to see the bill beaten, but have got to vote for it.

They are sullen, but they must support the president. They do not like the bill, but they cannot afford to oppose the administration. That is why there are no Republican speeches made in favor of the bill and why all the opposition is centered among those senators who represent states whose interests will be affected by it. Under the circum stances a vote may take place without the long and dreary debate which had been promised.

NGLAND now has the largest airship ever constructed. This huge Dreadnought of the air is called the Mayfly, and war experts all over the world are interested in the experiments that will be conducted with it. The huge dirigible airship is 510 feet long, forty-eight feet in diameter and has a lifting capacity of twenty-one tons. It is equipped with two gasoline engines capable of developing 300 horsepower. The gas bag is made of silk covered with duralumin, a new metal that is lighter than aluminium and stronger than steel. There are three propellers, one large one in the stern and a smaller one at each side of the forward gondola. The craft was launched at Barrow-in-Furness and will be tested there. It is fitted for lighting on and starting from the water. The vessel resembles the Zeppelin airship, but is larger than any yet constructed by Count Zeppelin. One of the pictures above shows the Mayfly as she was being launched, and the other shows her

PATRIOTS BUNCHED HITS IN TENTH AND WON GAME

Anderson, June 27 .- Bunched hits in the tenth gave the Patriots an exciting game 5 to 3. The locals made a desperate efforts to win in their half of the tenth, but poor base-running and coaching ruined the chances. The fielding of both sides was good and the game was snappy all the way through. The first ball pitched by Eldridge was found for a home run, but the following innings he kept his hits well scattered.

LOOSE GAME AT CHARLOTTE WENT TO THE HORNETS

Charlotte, June 27 .- In a slow and loosely played game here today that was nevertheless exciting and interesting in the closeness of the score the Hornets revenged themselves upon Greenville by defeating the Spinners 5 to 4. The poor playing of Kite behind the bat was largely responsible for the defeat of the visitors. The feature of the game was a beautiful eatch by Coutts in left field, which followed a long run and robbed the Greenville batsman of a hit for extra bases. The allround brilliant playing of Agnew, Wofford, and Hoey threw some sparks of interest into the game and was a decided contrast to several punk plays made by the Spinners. Wofford also starred at the bat by wielding the willow for three clean hits from four marches to the plate. Despite the evidence of the score since his team held the smaller total of tallies, Cashion clearly outpitched the rival mound artist, Hankie. The daring bravery of the Hornets on the bases because Kite was very noticably having an off-day in pegging was a prime factor in the victory. Charlotte did not earn all of the five runs, and in the one inning, the seventh, when Cashion weakened, stolen bases and errors that should not have been allowed were mingled plenteously with the hits and were largely responsible for the four tallies of that frame which might have by any semblance of clean fielding and fast pegging to the bases. Hankie's bad inning was also the seventh when he was touched up for three hits and the four runs scored by his opponents. Hits came frequently from the Spinners throughout but fast work by the Charlotte infield pulled Hankie out of dan-

Charlotte scored in the first by a base on balls, a steal to second, a sacrifice advancing the runner to third, and a long sacrifice fly that allowed the runner to tally. In the first half of the seventh were unchanged through the reble, an error and a wild throw, three stolen bases and a triple gave Greenville their four runs and brought untold gloom and despair to the Charlotte fans. But this was soon dispelled by the brilliant results of the Hornets' turn at bat. A pair of singles, a couple of errors, a quartet of stolen bases and a long triple sent the Charlotteans bound ing across the plate and put them one better than their visitors as to the score and the results at the end of the seventr were unchanged through the remainder of the game.

ties are much better. Commissioner Foushee says. The street's constructed of this material are almost dustless and are not as hard on horses as brick of macadam. The streets are constructed as are macadam streets, the rough stone being treated to a half gallon of tar compound per square yard, a coat of the finer gravel applied and a second half gallon of the fluid poured on top of this, the top dressing following. It is more than probable that the next streets built or repaired in the city will be built of this tar compound Where a street has been macadamized the cost is from fifty to seventy-five cents per square yard as the macadam foundation can be used for the tar dressing. Commissioner Foushee is of the opinion that Davie street could be treated to a coat of this material at small expense, using the cobblestones as a foundation for the tar and gravel dressing. The concern selling the tar has agreed likely that the city will experiment on either East Washington or East Sycamore streets with the material donated. Then if it shows up well it will be used on other streets.
